DEFENDANTS' BRIEF IN OPPOSITION TO PLAINTIFF'S MOTION FOR A TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER AND/OR PRELIMINARY INJUNCTION

This is a civil rights action pursuant to 42 U.S. §1983 alleging violations of various amendments to the United States Constitution. Plaintiff, Charles Iseley, is a pro se prisoner currently incarcerated at the State Correctional Institution at Coal Township, Pennsylvania ("SCI-Coal Township"). Defendants are numerous employees or former employees of the Pennsylvania Department of Corrections ("DOC"), or employees of the Pennsylvania Board of Probation and Parole ("Board").

On November 26, 2000, Iseley filed a Motion for a Temporary Restraining Order and/or Preliminary Injunction and supporting brief. Iseley requests the Court to issue an order directing the defendants to show cause why a preliminary injunction should not issue to alter his prison/parole file to "accurately reflect that the maximum expiration of his term occurred in August, 1999." He also requests that his file "correctly show that he received 87 years of credit at that time."

In October, 2000, Iseley filed a Motion for a Temporary Restraining Order and supporting brief. In that motion, Iseley requested that the Court issue a temporary restraining order against the defendants to bar them from continuing to utilize false information contained in his prison/parole records to keep him in prison. Iseley alleged that his maximum sentence expired on July 21, 2000 and for years the defendants have refused to acknowledge this despite his numerous communications requesting them to do so.

Iseley's latest Motion for a Temporary Restraining Order and/or Preliminary Injunction is nothing more than a reiteration of his claim contained in the October, 2000 Motion for a Temporary Restraining Order. Both motions center on Iseley's argument that his maximum sentence has expired and that he is being held in prison illegally. Defendants filed a Brief in Opposition to Iseley's first Motion for a Temporary Restraining Order, and addressed this claim and the legal issues. For brevity reasons, defendants will not rebrief this claim; rather, they incorporate their brief filed on October 30, 2000 as a response to this repeated claim by Iseley, and they respectfully direct the Court to that brief. Defendants are attaching as Exhibit "A" a copy of Iseley's October 5, 2000 Motion for a Temporary Restraining Order, and a copy of Defendants' Brief in Opposition, attached as Exhibit "B."

CONCLUSION

For the foregoing reasons, the Court should deny Iseley's latest motion for a temporary restraining order and/or preliminary injunction

BRIEF IN SUPPORT OF MOTION FOR TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER

The complaint specifically avers that there is false/inaccurate data in plaintiff's prison/parole records and that said data has and is being used to keep him wrongfully in prison.

One primary and blatant example of this is that plaintiff's maximum sentence expired approximately on July 21, 2000, and yet he remains in the hole in a maximum security prison (plaintiff is currently in the hole at Graterford prison).

The defendants have utterly refused to correct the false/inaccurate information in plaintiff's files to keep him in prison. This is delineated in the attached declaration. Such deliberate and intentional actions against plaintiff is a clear violation of his constitutional rights.

Conclusion

Wherefore, the court should issue an order forthwith for a hearing to establish why a TRO should not be issued to correct the inaccurate/false data/files/records.

DECLARATION

I, Charles Isley, hereby declare under penalty of perjury that the following is true and correct:

1. On December 7, 1983, I received six prison sentences.

2. Five of the sentences (Four 7½-15 year and a 1-2 year) were concurrent for an aggregate sentence of 7½-15 years. The sentence began on January 21, 1983 approximately.

3. The sixth sentence was a 5-10 year sentence which was to be served consecutive to the aforementioned 7½-15 year sentence.

4. The sixth sentence was to begin at the minimum expiration of the 7½-15 year sentence which occurred in 1990. This is clearly and easily verifiable via perusal of the Bucks County Sentence Sheet which was filled out and signed by the sentencing judges.

5. The defendants allege that my minimum sentence expiration is in 2008.

6. However, it is a fact that it was approximately on July 21, 2000, and that for years they have refused to acknowledge this despite my numerous communications requesting them to do so.

7. I am being held in prison illegally.

This is a civil rights action pursuant to 42 U.S. §1983 alleging violations of various amendments to the United States Constitution. Plaintiff, Charles Iseley is a pro se prisoner currently incarcerated at the State Correctional Institution at Coal Township¹, Pennsylvania ("SCI-Coal Township"). Defendants are numerous employees or former employees of the Pennsylvania Department of Corrections ("DOC"), or employees of the Pennsylvania Board of Probation and Parole ("Board").

On October 5, 2000, plaintiff filed a Motion for a Temporary Restraining Order and supporting brief.² In his motion and brief, Iseley requests that the Court issue a temporary restraining order against the defendants to bar them from continuing to utilize false information ¹Iseley is currently housed at SCI-Graterford due to a Writ to appear in a court proceeding. Upon completion of the proceeding, Iseley will be returned to SCI-Coal Township.

²As noted in her motion for enlargement of time to respond to the motion, undersigned counsel received the motion on October 17, 2000. Due to the delay in receipt of the motion, counsel requested enlargement of time to respond to the motion on or before October 30, 2000.

contained in his prison/parole records to keep him in prison. According to plaintiff, his maximum sentence expired on July 21, 2000 and for years the defendants have refused to acknowledge this despite his numerous communications requesting them to do so. He also states that he is being held in prison illegally. This brief is filed in response to plaintiff's motion and brief.

QUESTION PRESENTED

SHOULD THIS COURT DENY ISELEY'S
MOTION FOR A TEMPORARY RESTRAINING ORDER BECAUSE THE REQUIREMENTS FOR SUCH RELIEF HAVE NOT BEEN MET ?

ARGUMENT

THE COURT SHOULD DENY ISELEY'S
MOTION FOR A TEMPORARY RESTRAINING
ORDER BECAUSE THE REQUIREMENTS FOR SUCH RELIEF HAVE NOT BEEN MET

A. The Standard For Obtaining a Temporary Restraining Order

In order to succeed in obtaining a temporary restraining order, it must clearly appear "from the facts shown by affidavit or by the verified complaint that immediate and irreparable injury, loss or damage will result to the applicant." Fed. Rule Civ. P. 65(b). The standards for a temporary restraining order are the same as those for a preliminary injunction. Bieros v. Nicola, 857 F. Supp 445, 446 (E.D. Pa 1994). Thus, plaintiff must demonstrate: "(1) whether the movant has shown a reasonable probability of success on the merits; (2) whether the movant will be irreparably harmed by denial of the relief; (3) whether granting the preliminary relief will result in even greater harm to the nonmoving party; and (4) whether granting the preliminary relief will be in the public interest." Brian B.v. Commonwealth, 2000 WL 1512846 (3rd Cir. Pa. 2000).

An injunction should issue only if the moving party produces evidence sufficient to convince the Court that all four factors favor preliminary relief. Merchants & Evans Inc. v. Roosevelt Bldg. Products Co., 963 F. 2d 628, 632-33 (3rd Cir. 1992). If either of the fundamental requirements--the likelihood of success on the merits and the probability of irreparable harm if relief is not granted--are absent, a district court may not grant the requested injunctive relief. McKeesport Hosp. V. Accreditation Council for Graduate Med. Educ., 24 F. 3d 519, 523 (1994); Hoxworth v. Binder Robinson & Co., 903 F. 2d 186, 197 (3rd Cir. 1990). When a prisoner requests injunctive relief, said request "must always be viewed with great caution because judicial restraint is especially called for in dealing with complex and intractable problems of prison administration." Goff v. Harper, 60 F.3d 518, 528 (8th Cir. 1998); Forrest v. Nedab, 1999 WL 552546 at *3 (E.D. Pa. June 29, 1999).

Against these standards, Iseley's motion for a temporary restraining order should be denied.

B. Iseley Has Not Shown A Likelihood Of Success On The Merits Or That He Has Suffered Any Irreparable Injury

Iseley claims that defendants have refused to correct false/inaccurate information in his files to keep him in prison. In his declaration Iseley states that "five of the sentences (four 7 ½ -15 year and a 1-2 year) were to run concurrent for an aggregate sentence of 7 ½ -15 years, and that the sentence began on January 21, 1983, approximately." According to Iseley, "the sixth sentence was a 5-10 year sentence which was to be served consecutive to the aforementioned 7 ½ -15 year sentence [and] the sixth sentence was to begin at the minimum expiration of the 7 ½ - 15 year sentence which occurred in 1990." Iseley further states that "his maximum sentence expiration was on July 21, 2000, [that] for years the defendants have refused to acknowledge this despite his numerous communications regarding them to do so, [and] that he is being held in prison illegally.

(See Pl. Mot. for Temp. Rest. Order, Declaration, ¶¶1-7)

In a case similar to this, the Commonwealth Court recognized that the Department of Corrections was obligated to aggregate consecutive sentences into a single sentence with aggregated minimum and maximum terms. Gillespie v. Commonwealth, 106 Pa. Cmwlth. 500, 527 A.2d 1061 (1987). The petitioner in Gillespie challenged the legality of the aggregation of his sentence by the Department. In Gillespie the Court upheld the Department's authority to aggregate sentences, and noted that "our reading of the statute and interpretive case law compels us to conclude that once the sentencing court imposes a consecutive sentence, aggregation with other consecutive sentences is automatic and mandatory under 42 Pa. C.S. § 9757."³ The court went on to recognize that the "[d]epartment, not the Board, is responsible for calculating the maximum and minimum terms of the prisoners committed to its jurisdiction." Gillespie, supra, at 507. In addition, in Abraham v. Department of Corrections, 150 Pa. Cmwlth. 81, 92, 615 A.2d 814, 819 (1992), the court reaffirmed that aggregation is mandatory.

Defendants have attached to this brief a declaration from Raymond Reeder, Records specialist at SCI-Coal Township. Reeder's duties and responsibilities as Record Supervisor include sentence computation. (See Reeder Declaration ¶2) In his declaration, Reeder explains that Iseley's aggregate sentence is 12 years 6 month to 25 years. This aggregate sentence is in accordance with ³ 42. Pa. C.S. § 9757 provides "[w]henever the court determines that a sentence should be served consecutively to one being then imposed by the court, or to one previously imposed, the court shall indicate the minimum sentence to be served for the total of all offenses with respect to which sentence is imposed. Such minimum sentence shall not exceed one-half of the maximum sentence imposed.

Judge Kelton's sentencing orders. Attached as Exhibit "A" to Reeder's declaration is a copy of Iseley's commitment orders. The orders reveal that Iseley was sentenced in December of 1983 to a 7 ½ to 15 year term for the charges of Robbery, Burglary, Criminal Trespass, Terroristic Threats, plus other charges under case nos. 1372, 1373, 1374, 1375 and 1513 of 1983. (See Reeder Declaration ¶4) In addition, Judge Kelton sentenced Iseley to a 5 to 10 year term for the charges of Robbery, Burglary, Criminal Trespass, Receiving Stolen Property, Terroristic Threats, Reckless Endangerment, Simple Assault and Conspiracy under case no. 1576 of 1983. (See Reeder Declaration ¶5) This sentence was to run consecutive to the 7 ½ to 15 year sentence. (See Reeder Declaration ¶5)

Iseley's sentences were not aggregated until April 28, 1998, when upon review of his file it was noticed that four of the 7 ½ to 15 years terms had been reported as concurrent. (See Reeder Declaration ¶7) Upon discovery of this error, Iseley's sentence was aggregated to a term of 12 years 6 months to 25 years. The expiration of Iseley's minimum sentence was July 22, 1995 and his maximum sentence date is January 22, 2008. (See Reeder Declaration ¶8)

Based upon the information provided by Raymond Reeder, Records Supervisor, Iseley's declaration is without merit. The facts contained in the declaration are simply inaccurate. Iseley is not being held in prison illegally. To the contrary, Iseley's aggregate sentence of 12 years, 6 months to 25 years is in accordance with Judge Kelton's sentence. Here, Iseley has not demonstrated that he has a probability of success on the merits of his claim or that he has suffered irreparable injury, loss or damage. Because the fundamental requirements—likelihood of success on the merits and the probability of irreparable harm are absent—the requested temporary restraining order should be denied.

CONCLUSION

For the forgoing reasons, the Court should deny plaintiff's motion for a temporary restraining order.

UNSWORN DECLARATION OF RAYMOND REEDER

I, Raymond Reeder, hereby declare under the penalty of perjury that the following is true and correct and from my personal knowledge:

1. I am currently employed by the Pennsylvania Department of Corrections ("DOC"), as the Records Supervisor at the State Correctional Institution at Coal Township. ("SCI-Coal Township"). I have held this position since February, 1997.

2. As Records Supervisor, I am responsible for storing the official inmate files (known as the DC-15). My duties and responsibilities include but are not limited to sentence computation, sentence structure, coordination of all inmate transfers, and identification of inmates subject to DNA testing and Megan's Law registration.

3. Charles Iseley, AM-9320, is an inmate incarcerated at SCI-Coal Township¹, and I am familiar with his DC-15. On October 20, 2000, I received a telephone call from Maryanne Lewis, Deputy Attorney General, requesting that I verify his sentence, pursuant to a motion that he filed before this Court. I reviewed Iseley's file and have verified his sentence.

¹Currently Iseley is temporarily housed at SCI-Graterford due to a Writ to appear in a court proceeding. Upon completion of the proceeding, he will be returned to SCI-Coal Township.

4. In December of 1983, Iseley was sentenced by Judge George T. Kelton to serve 7 ½ to 15 years at a state correctional institution for the charges of Robbery (8 counts), Burglary, (3 counts), Criminal Trespass (3 counts), Terroristic Threats (3 counts), plus other charges under case nos. 1372, 1373, 1374, 1375 & 1512 of 1983. (See Exhibit "A" attached)

5. Judge Kelton also sentenced Iseley to 1 to 2 years concurrent for Resisting Arrest, under case no. 1241 of 1983. Additionally, Iseley was sentenced to 5 to 10 years for the charges of Robbery, Burglary, Criminal Trespass, Receiving Stolen Property, Terroristic Threats, Reckless Endangerment, Simple Assault and Conspiracy under case no. 1576 of 1983. It is specified that this sentence is to run consecutive to case nos. 1372, 1373, 1374, 1375, and 1513 of 1983. (See Exhibit "A" attached)

6. In accordance with Judge Kelton's sentencing orders, Iseley's aggregate sentence is 12 years 6 months to 25 years.

7. According to Iseley's sentence information, his sentences were not aggregated until April 28, 1998. Upon review of his file, it was noticed that four of the 7 ½ to 15 year terms had been reported as concurrent. These concurrent terms were not in accordance with the Court's sentence, as the 5 to 10 year term is to be consecutive to the 7 ½ to 15 year sentence. (See Exhibit "B" attached)

8. Upon discovery of the error, Iseley's sentence was aggregated to a term of 12 years 6 months to 25 years. The expiration of Iseley's minimum sentence was July 22, 1995 and his maximum date is January 22, 2008. (See Exhibit "B" attached)
